ST 02-0251-GIL 11/18/2002 CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS

Under Illinois law, a person who takes tangible personal property off the market by converting it into real estate is deemed to be a construction contractor and is the legal end-user of the tangible personal property. The construction contractor, as the user, incurs Illinois Use Tax and local Retailers' Occupation Tax reimbursement liabilities when the tangible personal property that will be converted into real estate is purchased from registered Illinois suppliers. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940. (This is a GIL).

November 18, 2002

Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated September 25, 2002. The nature of your letter and the information you have provided require that we respond with a General Information Letter, which is designed to provide general information, is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120(b) and (c), which can be found on the Department's website at www.revenue.state.il.us/Laws/regs/part1200/.

In your letter, you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

> We request clarification of the law on the taxability of various sign lease and rental transactions. We understand that your conclusions will be based on the facts presented and that a change in the facts as we have described them may change the conclusion. Our client (Company X) is attempting to confirm that they are in compliance with the law, and if not, what changes need to be made to come into compliance. Therefore, if a response to this request can be expedited, it would be greatly appreciated.
>
> Facts
>
> Company X owns pole signs, pylon signs, sign structures mounted to buildings, and monument signs. The signs are either permanently anchored in the ground or securely attached to the building. The signs are rented or leased to Company X's customers.
>
> Issue
>
> Are the lease or rental transactions described above taxable transactions?
>
> We appreciate your consideration of this matter. Your timely response is respectfully requested in order to allow our client to confirm its compliance with the state law as soon as possible. If you have any questions please feel free to call me.

A person who sells signs that have commercial value (i. e., value to persons other than the purchasers) incurs Retailers' Occupation Tax (sales tax) liability when making such sales, even if such signs are produced on special order for the purchaser. Examples of signs having such commercial value would be ones that spell out "real estate", "insurance," or "hamburgers," and which do not spell out the name of the purchaser nor the brand name of the purchaser's product and which are not otherwise similarly individualized. Please refer to 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.2155 Vendors of Signs, enclosed. When a sign that has commercial value is sold and installed, the installation charge is also subject to Retailers' Occupation Tax unless there is a separate agreement for the installation charge. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.450, enclosed.

If the sign vendor produces a sign on special order of the customer and the sign is so specialized that it would have no commercial value to anyone other than that particular customer who placed the order, the sign vendor would not incur Retailers' Occupation Tax liability. These transactions would be subject to liability under the Service Occupation Tax Act and the sign vendor would be considered a serviceman.

The above assumes that the signs remain tangible personal property after installation. If the signs were permanently affixed structurally as real estate, then there would be different tax consequences. Under Illinois law, a person who takes tangible personal property off the market and converts it into real estate is deemed a construction contractor and is the legal end-user of the tangible personal property. The construction contractor, as the user, incurs Illinois Use Tax and local Retailers' Occupation Tax reimbursement liabilities when the tangible personal property that will be converted into real estate is purchased from registered Illinois suppliers. If such items were purchased from suppliers that did not collect the tax, the person who converts the tangible personal property into real estate is required to self-assess and remit the Use Tax to the Department based upon the cost price of the property. For information on construction contractors, see 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940 and 130.2075, enclosed.

If the signs remain tangible personal property when they are leased, then the leasing provisions of Illinois law apply. Please note that the State of Illinois taxes leases differently for Retailers' Occupation Tax and Use Tax purposes than the majority of other states. For Illinois sales tax purposes, there are two types of leasing situations: conditional sales and true leases.

A conditional sale is usually characterized by a nominal or one dollar purchase option at the close of the lease term. Stated otherwise, if lessors are guaranteed at the time of the lease that the leased property will be sold, this transaction is considered to be a conditional sale at the outset of the transaction, thus making all receipts subject to Retailers' Occupation Tax.

A true lease generally has no buy out provision at the close of the lease. If a buy out provision does exist, it must be a fair market value buy out option in order to maintain the character of the true lease. Lessors of tangible personal property under true leases in Illinois are deemed end users of the property to be leased. See the enclosed copy of 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.220. As end users of tangible personal property located in Illinois, lessors owe Use Tax on their cost price of such property. The State of Illinois imposes no tax on rental receipts. Consequently, lessees incur no tax liability.

The above guidelines are applicable to all true leases of tangible personal property in Illinois except for automobiles leased under terms of one year or less, which are subject to the Automobile Renting Occupation and Use Tax found at 35 ILCS 155/1 et seq.

As stated above, in the case of a true lease, the lessors of the property being used in Illinois would be the parties with Use Tax obligations. The lessors would either pay their suppliers, if their suppliers were registered to collect Use Tax, or would self-assess and remit the tax to the Department. If the lessors already paid taxes in another state with respect to the acquisition of the tangible personal property, they would be exempt from Use Tax to the extent of the amount of such tax properly due and paid in such other state. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.310(a)(3) enclosed.

Under Illinois law, lessors may not “pass through” their tax obligation on to the lessees as taxes. However, lessors and lessees may make private contractual arrangements for a reimbursement of the tax to be paid by the lessees. If lessors and lessees have made private agreements where lessees agree to reimburse lessors for the amount of the tax paid, then lessees are obligated to fulfill the terms of the private contractual agreements.

I hope this information is helpful. The Department of Revenue maintains a website, which can be accessed at www.revenue.state.il.us. If you have further questions related to the Illinois sales tax laws, please contact the Department's Taxpayer Information Division at (217) 782-3336.

If you are not under audit and you wish to obtain a binding Private Letter Ruling regarding your factual situation, please submit all of the information set out in items 1 through 8 of Section 1200.110(b).

Very truly yours,

Melanie A. Jarvis
Associate Counsel

MAJ:msk
Enc.